ABOUT ME

I am a fifth-semester Informatics Engineering student at Tarumanagara University who blends technology, creativity, and purpose to create solutions that make a real impact. My experience in communication, design, and coordination has built my strengths in organization, documentation, and digital systems.

Beyond academics, I actively serve in ministry and youth organizations, where I have developed leadership, teamwork, and problem-solving abilities. I am driven by continuous learning and a genuine passion for using technology to create meaningful change.
